George C. Marshall
Democracy's Soldier
Is a Man of Peace

If you gave the 1953 Nobel peace prize announcement the close reading it deserved you know that America's General George C. Marshall is the first professional soldier ever to be so honored in the Nobel Foundation's 52-year history.

It would indeed appear odd to any generation but our own that a man of war should be eligible for a peace prize. But the soldiers of a democracy are unique among the war lords of history. Military men in a democracy don't determine war or peace—they merely obey the people's orders as handed down through the civilian Congress and President.

The Nobel peace prize came to General Marshall not as a great soldier but as a statesman and administrator great enough to realize what had to be done to bind up the wounds left by war and to must that his program be carried out. Whatever his country and the world may eventually say about George Marshall as Secretary of State after his army days it must always honor him for one great flash of perception. Shortly after becoming Secretary of State Marshall made the 1947 commencement address at Harvard university. He proposed in this speech—

That the nations of Europe get together and determine their total needs for postwar recovery so American economic aid could be administered fairly and effectively. Goal of his speech came the Marshall Plan or European Recovery Plan as it was known later on—and for the suggestion as much as the actual accomplishment General Marshall has been awarded the world-famous Nobel prize for peace.

Today we are on the ebb tide of American aid to Europe. But this is as it should be. Eight and a half years have elapsed since VE Day. Today Europe has nearly recovered from war prostration, is virtually able to stand on her own feet, and Marshall's great moment in history has to be hastily recalled by a forgetful people. But it is a great and enduring accomplishment when the world can be persuaded to clean up the scars of war as quickly and thoroughly as it does the job of making war. It was Marshall personally who pointed up this program. The Nobel committee recognized him for it, by the same token, handed all America a compliment to be heard around the world. His country is proud and grateful.

Claims, Alleys and Streets Worry Council

Hope City Council last night raising the salary of municipal judge to the minimum required by law, took under consideration several street and alley problems, and agreed to ask extension on a Livestock Association note which the city is underwriting.

State Act 254 requires that municipal judges not be paid less than $2400 a year. The council passed an ordinance raising the pay of Judge W. K. Lemley $50 per month as he is presently receiving $1800 per year.

Street and alley problems are causing the council many headaches and the following were taken under study last night: C. W. Cleaver of 120 S. Fulton requested the city sell him 15 feet of a street between his property and that of W. N. Wilson; Charles B. Huckle asked the council to either close an alley between 13th and 14th streets running east and west between S. Walnut and Edgewood and property owners in the Yerger school area asked that a street running through school property not be closed as planned at a recent council meeting. On the latter issue the council agreed to place signs and speedbreakers on the street.

The mayor advised the council that the Third District Livestock Show is unable to make payment on a note underwritten by the city. The group agreed to ask the two local banks to extend payment for one year.

Mrs. and Mrs. Otto Roberts asked $300 damage to their pasture allegedly due to fire spreading from one city dumping ground. No action was taken but the council instructed the street department to clear out a fire lane around the dumping ground.

Mrs. Mary Patterson asked $400 property loss due to a fire which she claimed was started after the burning off of grass by the Fire Department. The group voted to award her $50 damages.

In other action the group voted to buy an alignment machine for City garage, instructed garage chief Barney Baines to take bids on a welding machine, voted to join the Red River Valley Association and the Municipal Code Corporation; agreed to give $40 monthly to County Health Unit and accept W. E. Coulter's $650 bid to repair the City Community Center.

Dean, Commies Get Nowhere in Peace Effort

BY SA MSUMMERLIN
PANMUNJOM — The Communists today bluntly told American envoy Arthur Dean they feel he has failed to "advance anything useful" in efforts to get the Korean peace conference underway.

Dean called the Red statement "the same old propaganda pot-boiler."

The diplomats got nowhere in their meeting. They will meet for the 10th time at 11 a. m. Thursday (5 p. m. EST Wednesday).

Dean told newsmen he felt the time, place and composition of the peace parley could be handed out to subcommittees for simultaneous discussions. But he has not given this plan to the Communists.

The Communists Wednesday angrily accused the United States of violating the Korean armistice by signing a defense pact with Korea.

The preliminary peace talks are stalled by Red demands that neutrals be invited to the peace conference.

Vote Indicates Moscow Favors a Stalemate

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — State Department officials today described Russia's latest note on a German conference as fresh evidence that Moscow desires a kind of diplomatic stalemate at least for the time being.

There was no immediate comment by the department of the Russian response to a Western bid for a foreign ministers' conference on Germany and Austria. But privately, officials used such words as "evasive," "a severe disappointment" in speaking of it.

The 18-page note, delivered yesterday, was a reply to the invitation which the United States Britain and France issued Oct. 18 to the Russians to attend a conference on Germany and Austria at Lugano, Switzerland, on Nov. 9.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen dispatched a summary to Washington. The full text of the document was expected overnight. Officially the State Department said only the full text "will be studied at the highest levels," presumably by Secretary of State Dulles and his advisers.

The gist of the note clearly appeared to be contained in a re-assertion of these two points which the Soviets had insisted upon in a message to the Western governments in September:

1. A five-power foreign ministers' conference including Red China, which would seek to ease tensions all over the world — apparently a free ranging negotiation putting many problems on one table.

2. As a kind of second half of the big meeting, a conference of the foreign ministers of Russia and the three big Western powers, without Red China, to discuss the German question. The Russians contend the two on an Austrian peace treaty should go through normal diplomatic channels.

Gamblers Pay State $10,000

LITTLE ROCK — Olin S. Godwin, director of the Internal Revenue office here, said yesterday that the government received $10,428.15 in revenues from money wagered with Arkansas owners of federal gambling stamps during October.

He said the government collected 10 per cent of the $102,461.50 bet with Arkansas gamblers. Stamps sales totaled $337.50 during the month, he said.

Grownups Always Feel Anything a Child Can Do They Can Do Better — But Can They?

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Some grownups always feel that anything a child can do they can do better. But can they? Particularly in the field of the imagination — the gift that separates the living from the living dead.

Well, let's put it to the test. First, we'll see how one child met a classroom problem — and then see how well you can do with a similar problem.

Ten-year-old Carolyn "Sandy" Bakeslee is in the fifth grade. Her teacher as an exercise in imagination asked the class to make up stories about anything, just so they include a dozen simple words, such as dentist, wedding, weight, hotel.

Here's the story little "Sandy" wrote without help of any kind:

Mrs. Oliver Adams

Guest of the Arkansas Education Association at Arlington Hotel, Hot Springs today is Mrs. Oliver Adams, District 13 director of PTA. Mrs. Adams received a slate award this year as the outstanding director in Arkansas and has been a delegate to the Parent Education Workshop at the U or A for the past two summers. She is a member of the joint PTA-AEA committee recently conducted a district conference held here and at the state convention was presented a life membership by District 13, composed of six counties with a membership of 5,910. Over 50 per cent of the district units received superior ratings last year, including all Hope organizations.

Hope Station Has Part in Experiment

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Should future wars again make peanut production a patriotic duty, Arkansas farmers will be ready to go with the best recommendations based on adapted local research.

The Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station today announced results of a nine-year research project conducted at three widely separated locations over the state. Tests were located at the Main Experiment Station at Fayetteville in northwest Arkansas, at the Fruit and Truck Branch Station near Hope in southwest Arkansas, and at the Livestock and Forestry Branch Station near Batesville in north central Arkansas.

Peanut production is a lost art in Arkansas today. Only 5,000 acres were harvested for nuts last year. However, the crop reached a peak of 111,000 acres in 1913, during the height of the war effort. The peanut is an excellent source of oil — a vital material.

It was during this time that the Experiment Station began the peanut research project. It was terminated in 1952 because of the present relative unimportance of the crop in this state. Results are contained in Report Series 39, entitled "Peanut Performance Tests." Single copies may be obtained from county agents, or by writing to the Bulletin Office, College of Agriculture, Fayetteville.

Commercial peanut yields in Arkansas have generally been much lower than the national average. The Station tests showed, however, that acceptable yields can be produced with proper management practices.

For example, the Spanish varieties seem to grow best in Arkansas. They are also the types that yield the highest percentage of oil. The tests also brought out that fertilizer increased yields at Fayetteville and Hope, but not at Batesville. Another factor studied was proper spacing of the plants, with results varying among locations.

The bow-legged kitten: One upon a time there was a two-week old kitten and she was bow-legged and all of her brothers and sisters just laughed at her. Her name was Munchy and she was all black except for a white tip on the end of her tail and a white star under her chin. She was very lonely and unhappy.

One day after she had finished lapping up her milk and stuffing herself full of cat food and being teased — as usual — she said to herself, "Why should I stay there and be teased the rest of my life? I'll run away, that's what I'll do."

So the next day she was on her way. She stopped to take her weight in a drug store. And she stopped to go to the dentist and the dentist had to use the drill.

Difficulties Delaying Hay Distribution

LITTLE ROCK — Difficulties in obtaining hay prices from other states has slowed down Arkansas' program to help stockmen in the state's drought areas.

The program was put into effect Monday and the first carload of hay is on its way to Arkansas, said C. A. Vines, associate director of Extension Service.

Vines said the first orders for hay came in from Washington County — 340 tons — and Pulaski County — 15 tons. He said the hay would cost $27.31 a ton delivered in Washington County.

In explaining the price information, Vines said that the hay market reportedly was unsettled and that the market price of hay had jumped from $8 to $10 a ton since the program was announced.

He said officials in states having an abundance of hay are trying to keep prices in line but added that the outlook is "discouraging."

Gov. Cherry announced detail of Arkansas' hay program last Saturday. Farmers in 54 eligible counties can order the feed through their retail dealers who in turn forward the request to a coordinator at Little Rock. The hay is then brought into the state by freight on which the federal government pays half the cost. The railroad have agreed to charge half the regular freight rate.

The coordinator of the program — who will be paid from the government emergency fund — has not been named.

Three Czechs Seek Asylum in the West

BERLIN — Three Czech youths who shot their way out of Red police nets across the Soviet Zone of Germany waited hopefully for word today the West would grant them asylum. One of them is in serious condition from East Germany police bullets.

The three told police authorities here a hair-raising tale of four weeks as the objects of a vast manhunt, and of gun-blazing clashes with Red police. They left two companions behind in the trek — one believed captured and the other badly wounded by machinegun fire and either dead or taken prisoner.

The youths, who left their Communist-led homeland Oct. 3, said they opened fire at a police patrol that stopped them at a small railway station near Luckau, about 50 miles south of Berlin. Four policemen were killed and the rest fled.

The Communist press last week reported the shooting of the four policemen and announced rewards of 1,000 marks each ($240) had been placed on the heads of the three as hundreds of police searched for them through the suburbs of East Berlin. The Reds claimed the youths were part of a "Fascist underground."

The three who escaped are Cezar, Josef, 20, and his brother, Jozef, 20, who were described as sons of a Czech general executed by the Nazis in 1942, and Milan Baumer, 21, who had been a student at the Prague Military Academy.

Baumer was still in serious condition in the hospital after an operation for removal of bullets received in another scrape with East Zone police.

The three said they left Prague Oct. 3 after Red authorities arbitrarily refused to let them study at the Czech capital's technical academy.

They gave this account of their flight: After crossing the Czech border on foot, they walked to the East German town of Riesa, living on raw potatoes and apples. They sold their cigarette case and watch to buy railway tickets.

It was during this train ride that East German police stopped them and the youths, armed with three pistols they had saved since World War II, shot it out. During the battle they lost sight of a companion and believe he was taken. After that clash, they hid in woods during daylight and walked only at night.

MANSFIELD — Mansfield wanted to elect a mayor yesterday but it didn't have the ballots to do it.

Mayor Govern Brown said Sebastion County was to have sent the ballots for the election. But Lee Piles J. of Fort Smith, county election board chairman, said no ballot boxes had been sent. He said Mansfield previously had printed its own ballots.

Brown said a special election will be held late.

Confusion in Denial of Bomb Storage

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON — Two top administration officials have denied the United States plans to store atomic weapons in Spain, and Secretary of the Air Force Harold G. Tamm contends he didn't say it.

The denials came yesterday in quick succession, and in the wake of widely published stories quoting Talbot as saying in Madrid on Monday there were such plans.

President Eisenhower had an opportunity to give his views at a news conference this afternoon. Until Talbot comes home about mid-month and gives his official version, the government apparently intends to ride along on the basis of:

1. The pronouncement of Secretary of State Dulles, concurred in by Secretary of Defense Wilson, that "we have no plans for storing atomic weapons in Spain" and that if and when such plans materialized, "we shall not announce them publicly to the world and to our potential enemy." Wilson is Talbot's immediate superior.

2. Talbot's insistence on arriving yesterday in Athens, Greece, that he had said nothing about storing bombs in Spain "nor will I ever make statements about atomic weapons." He had been quoted by various correspondents for American and British newspapers and news services as saying there were such plans, subject to approval by Spain.

Cherry Tells Governors to Be Cautious

NOT SPRINGS, Va. — Gov. Cherry of Arkansas said here yesterday that it is harder than it would to top federal encroachment and allow the state to take on more responsibility.

He told the Southern Governors' Conference that even if the federal government should surrender some of its revenue sources there is no assurance that the states would assess the necessary taxes.

Cherry's statements followed a suggestion that the federal government give up the federal gasoline tax and abandon its road building program.

Several governors said the states could take care of the roads if they had the additional income from the tax.

"It's a fine thing to say the states should accept responsibility, and I think they should," said Cherry. "It's a fine thing to say the federal government should stop grants-in-aid but it isn't quite as easy as it might sound."

UN Charges Stalling in Interviews

BY JOHN RANDOLPH
PANMUNJOM — The Communists dragged out interviews with bulky Chinese prisoners today, netting a storm of protests from U.N. observers, charges of stalling, and shouts, screams and cures from violently anti-Communist POWs.

Three of 203 prisoners interviewed asked for repatriation, but the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission ruled that one was mentally incompetent and he was sent to a hospital.

The Communists were scheduled to interview 403 prisoners during the day, but some interviews dragged on for more than four hours and at the 5 p. m. deadline almost 200 were still waiting.

Red persuaders dragged out interviews as long as possible, wheeling and threatening prisoners who have refused to go home.

Allied officers called the Red tactics brainwashing.

There were charges that the Communists were deliberately stalling, perhaps in an attempt to wreck the explanation program.

Democrat Triumphs at Polls Regarded Blow to Ike's Administration

Republican Again Mayor of Little Rock

By The Associated Press

Republican Pratt Remmel won his second term as mayor of this Democratic state's capital city yesterday by a 3,000 vote margin.

His Democratic opponent's campaign manager, former Judge Frank H. Dodge, said the victory showed that "the two-party system is now at work in Little Rock."

Remmel's victory headlined municipal elections across the state as cities voted on new governments, bond issues and parking meters.

In Little Rock, the defeated candidate, Alderman Aubrey Kerr, had based his campaign solely on party issues and had criticized bitterly Remmel's insistence on basing his campaign on his record.

Remmel's brother, Pollie Remmel, chairman of the county Republican committee, said the outcome indicated a "victory on both counts—the man and the party."

The mayor's mother, Mrs. Augustus H. Remmel-GOP National Republican Committee woman — said the victory was "wonderful encouragement for the Republicans in the South."

SW Gas Firm Awards Local 4-H Club Girl

For the seventh consecutive year, Southwestern Gas and Electric Co. has presented a $50 contribution to the Hempstead County 4-H Council.

O. B. Pullen, Sales Manager for the Arkansas Division, made the presentation to Edna England, Treasurer of the Hempstead County 4-H Club Council, today.

Southwestern makes this contribution to each of the 4-H Club in every county and parish in which the company operates. The money is to be used in any way the Councils desire.

"We are convinced that an investment in our rural youth today is a guarantee of the continued progress of America because of the interest these young people have shown in bettering their own and their country's position in the world," A. J. Gray, Jr., Head of the company's Rural Development Department, said. "We want to again compliment the 4-H Clubs and their leaders and associates for the fine work they are doing."

Democrats Named in Local Election

With no opposition Democratic nominees in local balloting were elected in yesterday's general election.

John L. Wilson was renominated mayor of Hope; W. K. Lemley, municipal judge; Charles Reynerson, city treasurer; and Aldermen Charles Farley, Fred Taylor, Jesse Brown and Charles Taylor.

At Oakhaven Jess Davis was named mayor, Paul Jones, recorder and alderman S. A. Westbrook, Edward Aslin, Jack Lowe, J. C. Atchley and Lyle McMahan.

No Comment on Election, White House

WASHINGTON — The White House declined comment today on Democratic victories in yesterday's elections but hinted that President Eisenhower might have something to say at a mid-afternoon news conference.

By and large, Democrats saw the results as highly promising for a party victory in next year's congressional elections and the 1956 presidential contest. Republicans disputed that.

Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) said the Democratic victories were "proof of the general dissatisfaction with the present Republican administration."

On the other side, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) declared the voting was not "a fair measure of the administration's popularity."

"The real test of popularity for the Eisenhower administration will come in January when the administration's program is submitted to Congress," Flanders said.

Hunt argued: "There were largely tests of urban voters and did not reflect the known and wide dissatisfaction in rural and farm areas already demonstrated by the Democratic congressional victory in Wisconsin."

Farmers Hold Meets, Plan Program

Farmers have been building their program for 1954 during the last few days through community meetings sponsored by the Hempstead County Farm Bureau. Meetings have been held under the direction of Ned Purdie, President of the Independent Farm Group, at Blevins, Hope, Burke Store and St. Paul Church.

Thursday night at 7 o'clock the final meeting will be held in the Hempstead County Courthouse. At this meeting, final resolutions will be drawn for presentation at the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation in Little Rock on November 23, 24.

All farmers are invited to the Thursday night meeting. The community resolutions being brought before the countywide group Thursday night include: Cotton allotments; cattle price support; sales tax exemption for seed, feed and fertilizer; the establishment of a poultry disease laboratory in Southwest Arkansas; and water rights.

GOP Majority in House Is Slashed to Two

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Eisenhower administration was jolted today by Democratic triumphs at the polls which cut the Republican house majority to two and captured the New Jersey governorship for the first time in a decade.

Democrats said the off-year election results in New Jersey, Virginia, New York, and a few other states portend a comeback for their party in 1954 and 1956.

Republicans generally conceded they are in trouble, but many of them argued that their setback is temporary and will be erased when President Eisenhower's program is acted upon by Congress next year.

In Kansas City, Mo., former President Truman said he is a happy man. He said the returns show the people still believe in FDR's New Deal and Mr. Truman's Fair Deal.

The White House didn't say anything — on the assumption that Mr. Eisenhower will do whatever talking there is to do at his news conference later today (3 p. m. EST).

To some old time Republicans the Democratic victories were a penalty on the GOP for not cutting taxes. Most outspoken of these was Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee.

He holds that "Republican presidential campaign promises to limit taxes — and the gruff old New Yorker did his best to do just that but was stymied by administrative reluctance to lose revenue while the budget was out of balance."

"Apparently," said Reed, "the people have given their answer in no uncertain terms as to what they wanted and did not get."

By JAMES P. HACKETT
NEWARK, N. J. — Democrat won New Jersey's governorship yesterday with surprising ease and Republicans viewed the victory as political trouble for President Eisenhower.

Country lawyer Robert B. Meyner defeated Republican Paul L. Trost by more than 100,000 votes just a year after Eisenhower swept the normally GOP state with a 350,000 plurality. He will be the first Democratic governor in New Jersey in 10 years.

Meyner's triumph was in keeping with Democratic victories in Virginia, the only other state in a gubernatorial election, and in New York City's mayoral race. The New Jersey election was considered the only statewide test of Eisenhower's administration this year.

Coupled with Meyner's defeat of Trost, a contractor and head of the N. J. Turnpike Authority, was the victory of Democrat Harrison A. Williams Jr., in the state's 6th Congressional District.

Williams won over George F. Helffeld by a scant 2,000 votes in the normally heavy Republican district. The Union County district has had a GOP congressman since it was organized in 1932.

The Williams election pared GOP control of the House to 218 Republicans over 215 Democrats. It put New Jersey's delegation at eight Republicans and six Democrats.

Meyner's victory was noted among other Democratic triumphs in statements by both the Republican and Democratic national chairmen.

"There's no question about it — as of today we are in trouble politically."

NEW YORK — Robert F. Wagner Jr. was elected mayor of New York yesterday in a Democratic landslide that sent ecstasy through the city.

Soon she came to a meadow and she saw something coming up slowly through the weeds and grass. It was a puppy, a cross-eyed puppy. And soon they were friends, and what a pair they were!

That night they had to rent a room in the Staller Hotel.

The next morning Munchy put on a plaid skirt and yellow blouse and she was a sight. The sleeves were brown.

Rever, who was Munchy's friend, was a poet, and had a very good brain.

far from home Rover and Munchy started to get lonely and homesick but they just went on.

That day late in the afternoon, Munchy and Rover saw a cave so Rover started to investigate and Munchy did not want Rover to go in the cave so she went in too. All of a sudden a wolf came in from the entrance and they were trapped. And Munchy got so scared that she straightened out her legs and she was not bawled any more, and Rover was not cross-eyed either.

But the wolf was a friendly wolf, and said, "Hi-ya, kitten, whatcha doin' tonight?" And with that Munchy fainted. Just then the wolf's wife came in and said, "Well, Henry, I'm surprised at you! What do you mean about a date tonight? Just for that you can't watch the football game tonight!"

A week later Munchy and Rover were sure they were in love. So on June 27th they were on a hotel terrace and Rover said to Munchy, "Will you marry me?" "Why, yes," said Munchy.

On July 24th it was their wedding and the floor was made from solid marble. And the curtains were red velvet and it was a beautiful wedding.

A lot of people were invited including the wolf and his wife.
